

Help us Save the Elephants!

The fate of elephants is in the balance. The record price of ivory has attracted organized crime, rebel militias and even terrorist groups, fueling a surge of poaching across the continent. Without the outstanding support and generosity of our donors, STE would not be able to continue working to secure a future for elephants. We urgently need your support, while there is still time. You can be of vital assistance by donating to either our core funds or to any of our projects..
